Allies To Curb Movements Of Red Diplomats

Agreement Reached After Russia Put Out Similar Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and most of the Western Allies were reported today to have agreed to hit back at Moscow by restricting the movements of Soviet representatives in their countries.

Diplomatic authorities said preliminary plans for combined action were taken up at the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council and won the support of a substantial majority of the 14 member nations.

Definite action is expected possibly in the next two or three weeks after a further exchange of views.

The planned action would amount to a tit-for-tat retaliation for the Russian order of last month which in effect confines foreign diplomats to the Moscow area.

Will Set Up Limits

In the United States the expected result is an order prohibiting Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyuskin and members of his staff from traveling more than 25 miles from the capital without express authority of the State Department.

They now can go anywhere in the country with the same freedom as American citizens. Under the policy of reciprocity, the U.S. already has clamped down on the travel by representatives of Communist Hungary and Rumania.

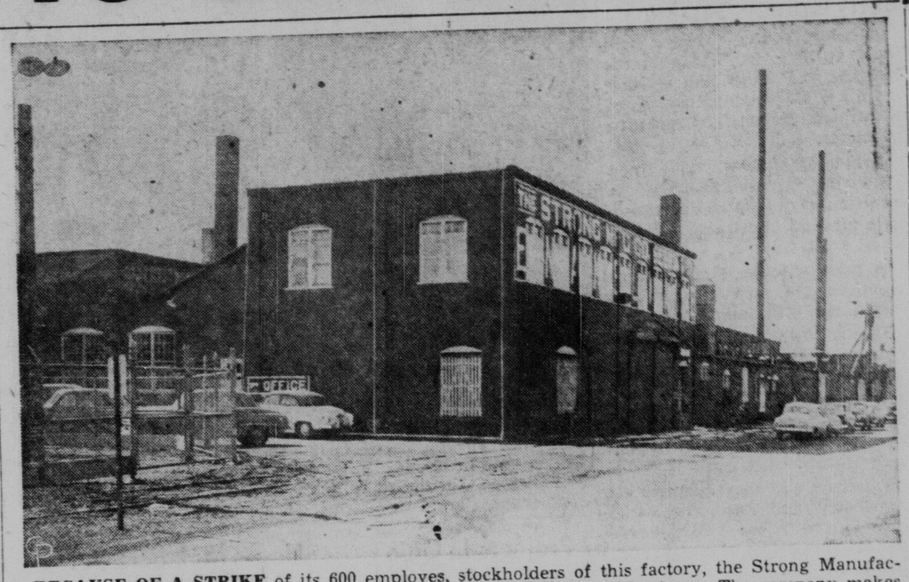

Without prior authorization the Hungarians may not go more than 18 miles from downtown Washington. Rumanian officials are limited to a 35-mile circle.

Officials of Poland and Czechoslovakia may still go where they please.

What to do about the Russian order has been under study in the Administration for weeks. The State Department acknowledged Jan. 22 that possible retaliation was under "active consideration" with the Defense Department and other agencies.

Officials said joint action by all the Western nations affected was viewed as more effective than any measure by this country alone.

The Soviet order in general prohibited foreigners from traveling more than 40 kilometers (25 miles) from Moscow and even within this circle some areas were placed off limits.

BECAUSE OF A STRIKE of its 600 employes, stockholders of this factory, the Strong Manufacturing Co. of nearby Sebring, voted to sell all assets and go out of business. The company makes porcelain enamel ware. The union is the AFL-Stamping and Enameling Workers, which struck Feb. 4 for 20 cents an hour raise. The company offered 10 cents plus 5 per cent incentive (equivalent to 8 cents) if the union would agree to a no-strike clause. The union rejected the offer.

U.S. Will Send Aircraft For Europe Defense

But Won't Dispatch Any More Troops To Continent In 1952

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will add no more army divisions to its ground force in Europe this year but will send considerable more air power to help the immediate goals set up at the Lisbon session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

In outlining the part the United States would have under the NATO master plan, Defense Secretary Lovett also tried to clear up confusion arising from the phrasing of an official summary of the meeting which he attended.

The summary issued at Lisbon produced the widespread impression that by the end of this year—only ten months hence—the Western European defense command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would have 50 battle-ready divisions or about 20 more than previously expected. Lovett told a Pentagon news conference yesterday that this idea was wrong.

The plan, he said, is to have something more than half of that number fully combat-ready, their manpower and weapons complete, ready to go into action at an instant's notice. The others would be of the reserve system generally used in Europe—with major combat equipment, transportation and supply systems ready but without all the manpower needed for combat-readiness.

Lovett explained the European reserve system differs from the American; that in Europe men can be called to active duty quickly (sometimes within 48 hours), and that they often have their small weapons and equipment stacked and ready in their homes.

Lovett made it plain the Defense Department has no intention now of asking Congress to approve sending one or more divisions to Europe.

After first consulting with his military and legislative aides, Lovett noted that the Senate resolution sanctioning the buildup of U. S. ground forces referred to sending four additional divisions Those four are now in Germany, he noted, and Congress would be consulted before any more were sent.

Lovett talked only of divisions (an army division is an entity of 18,000 men, with its own artillery, tanks and transport). However, units of less than division size have been sent to Western Europe and England, including antiaircraft outfits for American air and other military installations. It seems reasonable to expect more of these smaller, subdivisional units to appear overseas.

Army strength in Europe now consists of five divisions and a constabulary force presently equal to about two-thirds the size of a division.

Collazo's Conviction Upheld In Attempt On Truman's Life

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today unanimously upheld the conviction and death sentence of Oscar Collazo, Puerto Rican fanatic who tried to assassinate President Truman 16 months ago.

Collazo's Puerto Rican companion and a White House guard were killed during a furious gun battle fought on the steps of Blair House, temporary home of the President at the time of the storming on Nov. 1, 1950.

The 37-year-old Collazo was charged with murder although it was determined that the bullet that killed White House guard Leslie Coffelt came from the gun of Griselio Torresola, Collazo's companion.

Torresola was shot to death when presidential guards opened fire on the Puerto Ricans. Collazo was wounded during the assault. So were two other White House guards.

The law provides that every member of a group convicted of committing a felony that results in murder is subject to a charge of first-degree murder and punishable by death.

3 Judges Give Ruling

Collazo's court-appointed attorney appealed the conviction imposed in district court by contending there were a number of errors in the handling of the trial.

The three-judge court of appeals said it found no error in the trial and noted "in accordance with our custom in capital cases, we have examined the entire record to ascertain whether in our view errors were made which were not called to our attention by counsel for the appellant."

"We found none," the appeals court said. "The judgment of the district court must be affirmed."

The opinion was handed down

U.S. Will Keep Troops In Japan

Agreement Reveals No Time Limit Set

TOKYO (AP) — Diplomats signed an agreement today providing that American troops will stay in Japan indefinitely on just about the same terms as exist now.

No limit was set on the size or composition of U. S. post-occupation forces. No time limit was set on the length of their stay.

The agreement implements the U. S.-Japan Security Pact signed at San Francisco last September. It will become effective automatically when the peace treaty is ratified.

Agreement Hailed

Dean Rusk, chief U. S. negotiator of the agreement, hailed it as "another step toward peace."

The document provides immediate consultation for joint defense of Japan "in the event of hostilities, or imminently threatened hostilities."

The 28-page pact covers administrative details for keeping American garrison forces in Japan when the occupation ends. It provides:

Provisions Listed

1. The U. S. may bring into Japan whatever armed forces are needed, their dependents and attached civilians.

2. Japan will grant the necessary facilities and land for garrison forces.

3. The U. S. retains criminal jurisdiction over everyone brought in under this agreement.

4. The U. S. retains wide tax exemptions.

5. The two governments will cooperate to "ensure the security of the United States armed forces," dependents, civilians and property.

6. Japan will furnish necessary facilities, rights of way, etc.

7. Japan will contribute $155,000,000 yearly for "procurement by the United States of transportation and other requisite services and supplies in Japan."

The agreement covers only American forces. If other nations in the occupation forces are to remain in Japan after the peace they would have to negotiate separate pacts.

U.N. Asks List Of Civilians Held By Reds

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—U. N. truce negotiators today asked the Communists for another accounting of non-Korean civilians believed captured by the Reds.

Staff officers handed back to the Armistice subcommittee the deadlock over voluntary repatriation of prisoners. The officers reached virtual agreement on all other points. The subcommittee will meet Friday.

Negotiations on truce supervision appeared deadlocked on Communist insistence that Soviet Russia be named to a neutral supervisory commission.

Allied staff officers handed Communist delegates a list of 57 names—two more than were on the original U. N. list Dec. 30. The new names are those of the Rev. Father Jean Colin, a French Catholic missionary, and Alfred Gerald Matti, a Swiss national.

Meanwhile Allied bombers today destroyed 112 enemy trucks, mauled Communist supply buildings and rail bridges and blasted 120 more holes in North Korea's patchwork rail lines. Sabre jets combed North Korean skies without sighting a Communist MIG jet.

British and American carrier planes pounded Communist targets on both coasts of Korea Wednesday. Allied warships dropped high explosives on coastline installations.

The Reds enlivened an otherwise quiet day along the ground front with propaganda leaflets.

In Washington the Defense Department listed casualties for the Korean war at 105,992.

5 District Pupils High In State Tests

Five district students were among the pupils who received honorable mention as the result of scores they made in the Ohio general scholarship tests for high school seniors given Feb. 1 and 2.

Those listed from this area are Franklin E. Hull of Canfield, Edward G. Miller of Columbiana, Lynn R. Daugherty of Sebring and Richard L. Carson and Michael R. Miller of East Liverpool.

Hull and Miller tied for 232nd ranking in the state.

Jack A. Wright of St. Clairsville High School placed first among the senior boys with a score of 269. Mary Jane Green of Wellington High School led the girls with a score of 247.

The test was taken by 11,303 of Ohio's top seniors, representing 5,216 boys and 6,087 girls.

This was the 22nd annual senior scholarship test to be held in Ohio high schools under the direction of the State Department of Education.

20-Inch Snowfall, Winds Hit Cape Cod

BOSTON (AP) — The worst storm in possibly 50 years today left Cape Cod buried beneath snow drifts as high as 12 feet, isolated entire communities without power or communication and stranded an uncounted number of motorists.

Snowfall as high as 20 inches was piled into virtually inpenetrable drifts by a northeast wind that reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour at times.

In many cases town-owned snow-removing equipment proved to be so inadequate against the heavy odds that town officials had to appeal to the state and the army for heavier-duty apparatus.

At least five deaths were recorded up to early today as a result of the northeaster. Two others, 'teen-aged boys, were missing at East Sandwich hours after they went hunting in some marshland.

Resort hotels which function only for summer vacationists were hastily thrown open at the request of officials to put some of the hundreds locked in the heavy snow.

Others spent the night in town halls and fire stations that were lighted only by candles and kerosene lamps and heated only by fireplace wood fires and pot-bellied stoves because of the lack of power.

AFL Gives Reason For Sebring Strike

Unionists at the Strong Manufacturing Co. in Sebring did not strike chiefly for pay raises, regional AFL director Jesse Gallagher said today.

In saying this, Gallagher referred to a meeting here Monday in which the stockholders decided to shut the plant down permanently. The owners blamed excessive wage demands by the strikers.

The prinicpal issue, said Gallagher, was what he called the company's refusal to allow the AFL-Enameling Workers Union a voice in establishing production standards or the use of a grievance procedure on layoffs.

Alaska Statehood Bill Is Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said today the fight is still on for statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii.

He told his news conference that when he starts anything he never gives up until the last dog dies. Mr. Truman has repeatedly urged that the two territories be admitted to the Union.

The Senate voted 45 to 44 yesterday to send the Alaska statehood bill back to committee, thereby shelving it.

Mr. Truman expressed hope that the Senate reconsider its action.

He conferred on the matter earlier in the day with Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

He said they discussed the possibility of Senate reconsideration and said O'Mahoney is working on that.

O'Mahoney told reporters he will fight any attempt to sidetrack the Hawaii statehood bill.

Delays Announcement

18 U.S. Air Force Men Bail Out From C-47 In Blizzard

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia (AP)—Eighteen men—17 of them making their first leap from an airplane—safely bailed out of a U. S. Air Force transport early today, moments before it crashed in a blinding blizzard. Only two men were injured, neither seriously.

The plane, a C-47 enroute from Westover, Mass., to its base at Torbay, Newfoundland, crashed in uninhabited territory along the Sydney River, on the outskirts of this industrial center. It had carried 14 passengers and a crew of four.

The pilot had made 20 attempts to land through the storm at Sydney Airport, eight miles from the crash site, before he ordered everyone into parachutes.

Staff Sgt. R. Redinger, a Pennsylvanian, the only man aboard with previous jumping experience, fitted the 'chutes and gave each man quick instructions for the leap.

The escape door jammed for a moment, but broke loose when the men heaved against it the second time. The jump was made at 3,000 feet.

When the last man leaped into the darkness, swirling snow and a 50-mile-an-hour wind, the plane had only three minutes gas supply left. All 18 men were found within a half-mile radius by search teams of police and reserve army troops.

Lt. Col. James A. Harron, of Grosse Point, Mich., cracked several ribs in his landing on a hilltop and was carried off in a toboggan.

Capt. James P. Amaro, of Birmingham, Ala., twisted his knee in a treetop landing only yards from high tension wires carrying electricity into Sydney.

The pilot, Capt. T. E. Koblenski, said the storm "chased us right from Westover." He said he expected to outrun the blizzard but decided to try landing at Sydney when the storm worsened.

Several times he sighted the lights of Sydney Airport but couldn't get the plane down through the strong winds. Then he ordered the jump.

State Starts Court Action In Sewage Case

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — The state started court action today to penalize Youngstown for dumping untreated sewage into the Mahoning River.

"I think the wise course is to file," Attorney Gen. C. William O'Neill said after a conference with city officials here yesterday. He said the state's complaint was ready for filing in Common Pleas Court this morning.

"No tangible results have been received since I was here last year, and since there is no insurmountable difficulty, I am left with no alternative," O'Neill said in refusing to delay the court action.

The suit, first to be filed against an Ohio municipality under the two-year-old Ragan Act, asks that the city pay penalties of $500 for each month it continues dumping the untreated waste into an Ohio stream.

Mayor Charles P. Henderson and members of council differ on how revenue bonds are to be sold for a new sewage disposal plant. Engineers have not yet been chosen to draw up plans and specifications for the project and there has been no indication when the mayor and council will take action.

O'Neill said Youngstown's violation of the state anti-pollution law is blocking a clean-up of the entire Mahoning Valley.

2 Magazine Salesmen Fined; Third Sought

The two New York magazine salesmen charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old East Palestine mother pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon and were fined $25 and costs each.

At a preliminary hearing Tuesday, before Judge Tobin, Clifford Geer, 21 of Binghamton, and Pete Przystal, 20, of Buffalo, were placed under bond of $500 each for hearing whenever authorities locate a third member of the crew. Their counsel arranged a formal hearing for yesterday instead.

The third man—Howard Butcher, 27, of Glendale, W. Va.,—is the one who raped her, the girl claims. He gave her a bogus $350 check, police said.

Geer and Przystal were arrested Feb. 16 in Youngstown but Butcher slipped the net. Authorities at The West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville say he escaped from a work gang Jan. 25 while doing a 1-10 year term for forgery. He joined the magazine crew three weeks ago in Findlay.

Senate Probably Will Allow TV And Radio

WASHINGTON (AP) — You probably will be seeing and hearing more Senators and Senate committee activities if you are a television, radio or newsreel fan.

This word came from two key Senators today, majority leader McFarland (D-Ariz) and Senator Hayden (D-Ariz), chairman of the Senate Rules Committee.

In separate interviews, they said they knew of no Senate plans to invoke a radio-TV blackout such as was imposed on the House and its committees by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex). A storm of protest developed but the House seldom changes its rules over the speaker's opposition.

One Injured In 4-Vehicle Crash

Driver Tries To Pass Truck, Hits Three

One person was injured at 10:08 a.m. Wednesday in an accident on Route 14, about three miles east of Columbiana, which involved a car and three trucks.

State Highway Patrolmen said that William A. McMahon, 30, of Cleveland, the auto driver, was attempting to pass an eastbound car hauler operated by Seldon Gilpin, 33, of Greentown, Pa., on a hill and struck the side of the vehicle when he tried to cut back in his lane to avoid collision with an approaching truck-trailer driven by Harvey J. Hurd, 35, of Twinsburg.

The impact knocked the car into the path of the approaching vehicle which, after striking it, careened into an eastbound pickup truck operated by Roy C. Patterson, 50, of Canton.

McMahon suffered shock and multiple lacerations of the body and was brought to Salem City Hospital where his condition is reported good today. His car was demolished and extensive damages were caused to the other vehicles involved.

Patrolmen said traffic was tied up at the scene for a considerable time until the wreckage could be cleared away.

Rabies Shots To Nip Polio Being Tested

FROST, Tex. (AP) — Seven months ago nearly 400 persons in this small Texas town took five rabies shots each in an experiment to determine whether this would prevent polio.

Since that time no polio case has been reported in Frost. Seven months ago seven of Navarro County's 12 polio cases were in the Frost area.

Reporting this today, doctors who made the experiment were careful not to claim the experiment had yet proved anything.

Dr. Herbert E. Hipps of Waco first advanced the idea, saying only that "people who have received rabies shots generally don't have polio."

Dr. Hipps said:

"We'll have more definite information on its success after about six months. By September we should know if our tests helped. Frost has a history which usually results in polio cases during August and September. If none occur this year we can be led to believe the experiment was worthwhile."

Columbiana Man Held On Grand Jury Charge

Raymond Buckley of Columbiana, indicted secretly by the April Grand Jury with William Flory of Salem on a charge of larceny and conversion, is to be arraigned today in Common Pleas Court.

Buckley was arrested Wednesday while working at the F. C. Russell Co. plant at Columbiana. He has been hunted since June, 1950.

Flory has not been located since he fled the county last summer after pleading guilty and asking probation. L. K. Barber of Salem claimed the men stole a two-wheel trailor and hitch valued at $150.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The United States, Britain and France jointly announced today they are examining new proposals to Russia for a peace treaty with Austria.

This move possibly may be designed to get a clear idea whether the Kremlin intends to start a war in Europe.

The announcement of the three Western powers today was the first step toward proposing to Russia that the four powers sign an abbreviated treaty that would pull all foreign troops out of Austria and give the country its freedom. Prolonged negotiations on a treaty were broken off in London 14 months ago.

House Members Get Quarters For Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Homeless yesterday, House investigators of the Justice department today were ready to set up housekeeping in new quarters in a nearby Capitol Hill hotel.

Speaker Rayburn, rising to what Rep. Chelf (D-Ky) called "an extreme emergency," granted a House committee permission to hire privately-owned office space for the first time in history. The committee will conduct its investigation of Attorney General McGrath's Department.

The speaker's unprecedented action quelled Republican rumblings the inquiry was being "roadblocked" because of lack of office space.

Senator Wants Ike To Return

Sparkman Says He Can Report On Europe Aid

(By The Associated Press)

A Dixie Senator said today he thinks a "non-political" trip home by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would help the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its study of U. S. aid to Europe—and he hopes the group will invite him soon.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) said he is not trying to entangle Eisenhower in a political situation.

But, he said, the general's views on how much Congress should vote this year to aid Western Europe would be helpful because "he knows more about the situation than any other man." President Truman is expected to ask for about $7,900,000,000 to continue foreign military and economic aid another year.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), who is supporting Senator Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination, said Eisenhower's testimony might help, but he didn't think his return at this time could be "divorced from the presidential political picture."

Eisenrower has said he would accept the GOP nomination but won't seek it. His backers openly have said they would like to have him come home before the July Chicago convention to bolster their drive for his nomination.

Meanwhile conflicting claims of strength came from both Taft and Eisenhower backers:

Fifteen Eisenhower-For-President leaders from 11 southern states organized in Washington yesterday and said for the first time in history the South is ready to go Republican in November if Eisenhower wins the nomination.

David S. Ingalls, a Taft campaign manager, issued a statement taking exception to one by Senator Lodge (R-Mass), national director of the Eisenhower campaign, that the general's convention delegate strength is growing in the Midwest. Ingalls said if there is any such upsurge "it has probably been the best kept secret of the campaign."

Lodge also had said an Eisenhower victory would help Republicans win control of Congress, but Ingalls challenged Lodge's claim the general's nomination is needed for this.

Another Taft development was reported in Philadelphia by the Philadelphia Inquirer. The paper said Gov. John S. Fine, former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur held a secret meeting last night in MacArthur's hotel suite to discuss Taft's candidacy. Fine is scheduled to lead the 70-member Pennsylvania delegation to the GOP convention.

SWERVES CAR, KILLED

AKRON (AP) — When he swerved his auto to avoid three dogs playing on the street, Roland Cormany, 58, of Uniontown, drove into a creek. The car landed upside down, and Cormany was killed.

MOUNTBATTEN VISITS IKE.—Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten takes a good look at the SHAPE badge worn by General Dwight D. Eisenhower. He'll have to wear one, too, if he is made naval commander in the Mediterranean. There have been reports he may be offered the post. Mountbatten visited Eisenhower at Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Powers in Europe, near Paris.

Two Pay $40 And Costs For Reckless Driving

Two youthful drivers, arrested at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday on N. Ellsworth Ave., and charged with reckless operation, enriched the city treasury by $40 and costs today through fine and bond forfeiture.

Arnold L. Grace, 18, of 286 Ohio Ave., was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Harry M. Vincent and Donald Grabigel, 22, of 164 W. Third St., forfeited a $25 bond by failing to appear at the hearing.

Police who arrested the two said that they were racing their cars at speeds ranging up to 60 miles an hour.

Air Raid Drills Due In School

Pupils of the county's rural schools are due for air raid drills this spring.

County Superintendent James L. McBride recommended practice alerts at a dinner meeting of the Principals Discussion Group Wednesday night at the Pythian Temple at Lisbon. Twenty-two attended.

McBride said alerts had been discussed but nothing definite had been done. "Our consciences would never be free if a disaster occurred," he told the administrators.

Robert Lucas, assistant supervisor of elementary education for the state Department of Education, spoke on "Faculty Meetings," and held a question and answer period.

Subjects advanced for faculty study were: continuous programs of growth from grades 1 through 12; curriculum planning at every grade level; child development—knowing the child as a person; interesting classrooms; development of unit teaching; grouping of youngsters and class schedules.

McBride said the county board is securing a 35mm camera to make slides of classroom activities and student projects. A visitation day for first grade teachers will be held this Spring, he added.

Germans Still Expect Full NATO Membership

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German government made plain today that it expects full membership eventually in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The NATO minsters at their Lisbon conference postponed German membership in their group but agreed to give the Germans a voice in Atlantic councils through the proposed six-nation European army, which is to include German troops.

Today the federal government's bulletin said, "The wish of the West German government that West Germany some day will be a full member of the Atlantic pact organization has not been dropped."

Non-Elastic Purse

THE PROPOSAL to limit the maximum rate of income, death and gift taxes to 25 per cent, though passed on favorably by 23 states, probably will not materialize.

Its opponents have succeeded to date in having 8 of the 23 states rescind their action.

Nevertheless, there is wide popular appeal and great common sense in the idea embodied in this proposal. Both it and other proposals to limit the elasticity of the government purse reflect a genuine fear of the trend which has carried many governments into ruin.

One of these proposals has been made by Sen. Taft. He opposes rigid tax and debt limitations as constitutional law, but believes the total federal, state and local taxes should be held down to 25 per cent of the national income. This would represent a cut of about 5 per cent from the current rate of 30 per cent.

Sen. Taft's proposal sidesteps the principal objection to the 25 per cent limit on income, death and gift taxes. This is the objection that it would give relief to the payers of taxes over those amounts while giving no relief to citizens in the low tax brackets.

The only way the Taft proposal could be put into effect would be as a policy of taxation put into effect and kept in effect by legislative determination at all levels of government. That is, of course, its weakness.

Legislators do not raise taxes without thought of the effect of spending the revenue. Thus, they are under continuous pressure to make more public money available; that is the reason taxes keep rising.

There is never-ending need for more public money to spend to provide the things which are asked for by the same people who resent paying more taxes. They do not see the relationship between what they demand and what government costs them. No legislative policy would withstand the pressure for spending, which continues to be greater than the pressure for not spending.

No Perfection Without Flaw

EXCEPT for jokesmith material, February's extra day in Leap Year is of no importance any more. Even the Feb. 29 babies grow up to be philosophical about their lack of birthdays.

But Leap Year does set off the calendar reformers because it is calendrically untidy, they claim. Actually, it is the opposite of untidy.

When Pope Gregory XIII corrected the Julian calender in 1582, he found it was ahead of elapsed time by about 14 days. That discovery in itself was a triumph of perfectionism, but not so great a triumph as the correction.

To keep the calendar from falling behind after Leap Year had been added, Pope Gregory hit on the idea of skipping three leap year years every 400 years, the centesimal years. But to make the plan work, centesimal years divisible by four retain their leap years. Thus, the solar year of 365 days, 5 hours and about 48¾ minutes is wrapped up neatly in the packages of time with no strings left dangling.

Calendar reformers, however, would shift Feb. 29 to the day after June 30 and call it by some other name. Their plan calls also for every month to start on the same day of the week and for all months to be of the same length.

Somehow in Leap Year their proposition falls flat. The Gregorian calendar may not be perfect, but where can perfection be found without a flaw in it somewhere?

Not The Last Word

ALL the new automobile models now are on public view. Even without the cutbacks in production ordered by Office of Defense Mobilization, the new beauties would be in extraordinary demand.

They are the last word.

But no one should imagine they are the last word in more than an annual sense. There will be nothing more desirable in 1952. But in a few years the slickest of today's cars would be made hopelessly obsolete by a new kind of auto body being tested on the road by a manufacturer of plastics.

The plastic body cannot rust, cannot oxidize and can be dented only by an impact which would make a total wreck of a steel auto body. It is light, it can be molded without expensive dies and presses and it is stronger than steel for its weight.

There never has been a valid reason why plastics should be substituted for anything which can do the same job better. But there is no reason why they should not be substituted when they can do the same job as well or better. An auto body which could be produced so cheaply it might be practicable to buy a new one for an old chassis would add a fresh and exciting dimension to the automobile industry.

Public Sentiment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It's Vital Factor In Presidential Elections

WASHINGTON

MOST people unfamiliar with the techniques of national politics are assuming that predictions made today as to who will be nominated by the two major parties next summer can somehow be validated just by talking with state leaders or politicians or prospective delegates who express their likes or dislikes of particular candidates.

Actually the way to figure out who is going to be nominated in a presidential year is to appraise public sentiment on the main issues of the day.

For it is an almost invariable rule of political history that, when the party in power is unpopular, practically anyone nominated by the opposing party can win.

It is another rule that, when the party in power is unpopular, it turns to someone whose name or reputation has a nation-wide appeal. This is one reason why Democrats started flocking to Eisenhower as against Truman just before the 1948 convention.

THE CONVERSE of this is what has been happening for several months on the Republican side. Several Republican leaders, fearful that they could not win except with someone with a big name and reputation, have been saying that only General Eisenhower can win on the Republican ticket.

The truth is that, if the party in power is weak, almost any reputable nominee on the opposing party can achieve victory.

Thus the rise in the strength of General Eisenhower has been coincident with the expressed view of those of his supporters that nobody but the general could defeat the Democrats. As the corruption issue and tax scandals, however, began recently to weaken the Truman administration, the strength of the opposition party increased and Taft became a more likely candidate.

The Democratic administration is today more unpopular than its own supporters are privately willing to admit. Again and again one hears in the national capital an expression of confidence among administration people that President Truman can win or at least that it will be a close race. When Republicans in the Eisenhower camp hear this, they feel it improves the chances of their favorite.

BUT IT IS simply the working of the old rule—the party leaders and regulars never select a non-political figure except in a mood of desperation, that is, when they feel it affords them the only sure way to win.

Senator Taft's supporters, on the other hand, have been working constantly to overcome the oft-repeated statement that the Ohio senator can't win. They point to the result in Ohio in 1950, when Mr. Taft won by 400,000—an unprecedented majority.

Experience shows that people vote "against" things. The grievances which are accumulated against the party in power and particularly against the incumbent President are much more widely discussed than are the virtues of the candidate who is the alternative personality to be voted for. Thus in 1920 Governor James M. Cox of Ohio was an infinitely better man than Warren Harding and made a better campaign, too, but various groups and factions were irritated and embittered by certain of the Wilson policies. So the majority voted against Cox rather than for Harding as a man.

There are many similar instances in state campaigns which bear out the rule. Hence in 1952 it is the "anti" vote that is bound to be much more influential than the personality of the candidate chosen by the Republicans or his platform. The one thing that can upset this rule is the sudden intervention of some critical international situation. People often vote on an emotional basis and forget domestic quarrels and controversies when the national safety is at stake.

MANY EVENTS in the international scene can happen which would strengthen Truman as against any Republican nominee. This, in turn, would tend to give the supporters of General Eisenhower greater hope of winning the nomination. Mr. Truman himself has frankly confessed he has been undecided lately whether or not to run. Perhaps he thinks international issues will be transcendent.

But it seems certain that Mr. Truman will not run unless he thinks he can win. If the anti-administration feeling is preponderant, it may effect his decision. Just now the Democratic chieftains and especially the office-holders are telling the President he can win easily, but their advice is based on a judgment colored quite naturally by wishful thinking. The administration could not command a majority vote today. Whether it can next November depends on developments between now and next Autumn.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Help For Rheumatic Arthritis Victims

ONE of the most important causes of chronic illness today is a disease known as rheumatoid arthritis. This important disorder is all too common.

It causes an immense amount of discomfort and pain, and appalling economic loss both to the afflicted individual and to the country as a whole.

There are many extraordinary features about this disease. The usual form of the disease is more common in women than in men. There is a tendency for the disease to begin in the 20's and 30's, though it sometimes starts later.

In some patients who are apparently heading for a long siege of the disease, the condition stops completely even without treatment. If a person with rheumatoid arthritis gets jaundiced, the symptoms are greatly relieved, at least while the jaundice lasts.

In women who become pregnant in the presence of a severe rheumatoid arthritis, the condition is also relieved but almost invariably comes back in full force after the pregnancy is over.

Another queer thing about rheumatoid arthritis is that it is influenced by the mental condition. An emotional upset, such as may be brought about by a quarrel or some other form of worry, is likely to make a rheumatoid arthritis which has been behaving fairly well suddenly become worse.

Such strange things about rheumatoid arthritis as these have been carefully studied but not yet thoroughly explained. It is partly because of pondering these matters that cortisone and ACTH came to be tried.

The discovery of these substances has certainly not answered all questions of treatment, but working with them has permitted much new knowledge to be gained.

The patients on whom they have been tried almost always have obtained immediate and practically complete relief from their symptoms but these usually come back after stopping the injections.

There are some undesirable side effects but these do not seem to be either serious or lasting.

Eventually research workers hope to find out much more about the causes, prevention, and treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

This hoped-for result may still be distant but it is unquestionably much closer than it was before the discovery of cortisone and the use of ACTH for rheumatoid arthritis.

But the disease is still puzzling and research workers are busy trying to untangle the many knotty problems connected with its causes and treatment.

My good friend, Robert D. Potter, has just written an accurate, easy-to-read book called "Arthritis" which gives much more information on this subject.

"Where'd They Ever Get That Idea?"

A Program For Political Action

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

FOR many years, it has been apparent that while thousands of books have been appearing on all phases of our political, social and economic problems, few, if any, have been published which set out to re-state American thought on these subjects. We have become so accustomed to the subordination of American interests to globalism and to Marxian sociology and Keynesian economics, that it is refreshing to read an American book.

Many journalistic efforts have been made in this direction, but what seemed to be most needed and desired is a work that combined scholarship, which is the ability to find and use data, with experience in practical matters, with a capacity for objective and constructive thinking.

Raymond Moley was, you may recall, engaged by Franklin D. Roosevelt to group together a number of brilliant minds to perform precisely such a feat. This was the original "brain trust" which Moley headed. His group, it would seem to me, were closer to this book than to what we have come to know as the New Deal. Mr. Roosevelt found it politically appropriate to move far from such guidance and accepted rather a program of fragmentizing the American people into elements of self-interest who would vote for him in subsequent elections. Mr. Moley then returned to Columbia University and the publication "Newsweek," leaving the New Deal just at the moment when it turned sharply to the left.

MOLEY HAS NOW published a book, "How To Keep Our Liberty," which appears to me to be exactly the volume about America that I have been looking for. Moley, whom I would regard as a conservative, is certainly not a reactionary. He does not expect to discover a formula for bringing back the "good old days," whenever they might have been. But he says that there is an American way of doing things and that by those processes we built a very important and great nation. Since we have deserted those processes, we have come upon troubled times. He suggests a practical program for the achievement of social objectives without destroying the American way.

He lays this foundation for the discussion:

"The impairment of constitutional protections and our party system, the immense growth of federal power, the increasing dependence of millions of people upon government bounties, and the insidious attack of alien philosophies—all these are evidences of a threat to those republican institutions which collectively have been the shield of our liberty.

"The intervention of government in our economic and social life proceeds in what we may roughly call geometric progression. With each new encroachment upon the area of liberty, government grows more potent and liberty weaker. Ultimately, an unseen line is crossed, and resistance becomes impossible. The individual cannot regain his liberty, because his capacity for self-determination is exhausted. As a nation, we reach a point of no return."

THE BOOK has been so carefully prepared that while it is chockfull of studied data, it reads smoothly. But what pleases me most is that Moley does not leave his book at denunciation, complaint and pessimism, but builds a constructive program for the movement away from statism and socialism to the re-achievement of liberty through political action. He reaffirms the American way, which is inevitably the use of the political method of representative government. Parts Three and Four of this book are essential to anyone who really wishes to understand the America of 1952 and who wants to do something about it. Moley says:

"In a free society national goals are not fixed and attained by coercion, as they are in Soviet Russia. Liberty permeates the nation with a million forces; the achievement is unpredictable, and therein lies the zest of anticipation. As long as we are sure of the direction in which we are going and are sure of the motives and principles that guide us, we can anticipate a better life. That should be enough assurance for free men."

The motives of our current administration are doubted by most Americans and the direction of political purpose has become so confused that what seem to be errors of practice are in reality errors of direction. We have no targets. We have lost our direction.

This Raymond Moley seeks to set right in "How To Keep Our Liberty," and he does it with rare competence.

Stumped

By TRUMAN TWILL

WHAT every young architect learns at his instructor's knee is the probability that he never will design anything as perfect as a tree.

Every delirious tree man already knows this. He learns it sooner rather than later if a tree blows down in a midstorm and he must dig out the stump.

If the tree has been growing in the same place long enough to feel at home, it is held upright by an ingenious arrangement of roots reaching out from its circumference in all directons and extending downward at a sharp angle.

The largest of these roots will be approximately opposite the direction from which the prevailing wind blows. It acts in somewhat the same way as the great toe on a human foot, yielding to pressure, providing the resiliency which keeps the tree from breaking at its base

There will be at least two other of these main roots extending outward in other directions, holding the tree upright, absorbing the impact of the wind, acting as shock absorbers for the recoil.

When a tree goes down in a storm, unless the storm is so furious that everything in its path must yield, something is wrong. A healthy tree cannot fall; it is too perfectly designed.

The tree which started this particular exposition was not so much unhealthy as malformed in its root system. The "great toe" root which kept it from being bowled over by every strong wind from the West was inadequate for its job, especially for an evergreen in an exposed postiion.

A combination of high wind and soaked ground was fatal.

This gave the delirious tree man a chance to show how much he had learned about root systems during the last few years of digging out tree stumps.

After all the out-reaching roots which ring the tree's circumference have been uncovered and severed, there still is the taproot — the inaccessible one which grows straight down from the base of the trunk and provides the pedestal on which the tree rests when it is not teetering on its toes.

That is the main lesson to be learned about tree stumps.

It is this primary rootwhich gives rise to the practice of dynamiting stumps, bowling them over with mechanical stump pullers or pushing them out of the ground with bulldozers. There is no other way to get rid of them.

A man with a shovel pitted against a Grade-A taproot makes as uneven a match as a man with a slingshot against a man with a bazooka. If he's lucky he might do it; that's his only chance.

And if he did it, he probably would be in no condtion to celebrate because his physical resources would be used up by the effort.

The stump in question was dug out. It was not, fortunately, a big stump—just big enough to have bequeathed its conqueror the sorest muscles he has had since the day after the first day of football practice while the country was still keeping cool with Coolidge and feeling hand about Harding.

By piling a few tons of wheat inside the doors of the otherwise empty grain elevator, it is made to seem full—and maybe it's time for a room-by-room inventory-taking at Fort Knox.

Common Cold

By HAL BOYLE

Most Democratic Disease

NEW YORK

WHAT KEEPS the common man common is the common cold.

Death is the final leveler, but the common cold in life is the greatest equalizer.

Hal Boyle

It is the most democratic of diseases, creeping with equal impartiality into the nostrils of the aristocratic and the bronchial tubes of the most lowly.

The common cold links us all in a fine mortality, a brotherhood of susceptibility. Like money it is a medium of exchange. The colonel's lady can give it to Judy O'Grady, and a peasant can relay it to his king. Even Joe Stalin can't lower his celebrated Iron Curtain on this invisible bond that joins all mankind.

YES, ONE "kerchoo!" makes the whole world kin.

Like love, the common cold is caused by a non-filterable virus. And, as in the case of love, people rail against its torments, but secretly enjoy them. Again, like love, it can really be cured only by the passage of time.

So many wonder drugs have been developed to defeat the common cold it is a wonder one of them doesn't really work.

People happily ply themselves with lozenges, nose drops, cough syrup, bromides, salves, unguents, ointments, pain-dullers, gargles, ultra violet rays, antihistamines and prohistamines. There are 1,001 remedies for a cold. But my conviction is that nobody ever really got over a cold until he was tired of it.

When you really get tired of a cold—when it has done all it can for you—it usually leaves you and goes on to help somebody else. Either that or you go into pneumonia.

IN ALL HONESTY some government ought to strike a medal honoring the common cold for service to the human race "above and beyond the call of duty." For it is a beneficient malady, an alarm clock to warn you to put yourself in better health.

A common cold sets a man apart. The first warnings—a watery eye, a rheumy throat, a sneeze—confer upon him distinction, attention, sympathy, pity. These things a man has to have or else life doesn't seem worth while.

Without a cold he is just another nobody, one more cipher amid the official zeros. With a cold he is immediately a person of importance. The boss tells him kindly to "go home and take it easy." His wife wears a rut in the floor by his sickbed, bringing him pleasant food and wondrous drugs.

DURING THIS drama of convalescence the patient escapes all daily cares, catches up on his rest and returns looking so cheerful the boss decides, "I think I've got a cold, too." So he goes home to bed, and one after the other the rest of the office staff does the same thing.

This is such normal practice in most offices today that a sneak is defined as "somebody who tries to catch a cold before it's his turn." In the better run offices winter colds by an unwritten rule are now granted on the principle of seniority, just like vacations.

That, of course, is just what a common cold is—a vacation from reality. And if any doctor ever discovers a one-day sure cure for a cold he had better keep it to himself, or the race of man will wish the meddling busybody to lie in an unmarked grave.

People just couldn't stay human without the relaxing relief of the good old common cold.

Bomb Expert To Testify In Damage Suit

LISBON — An explosion expert with A-bomb experience is scheduled for testimony today in Common Pleas Court as the Burnrite Coal Co. caps its defense in a blast-damage suit.

He is Harold White of Hazleton, Pa., formerly associated with the A-bomb project at Oak Ridge Tenn., and retained by Burnrite about three years ago to make blast experiments at the firm's stripping operation near Signal.

His testimony, backed up by seismopraph readings, got Burnrite a jury verdict in another damage suit late in 1949.

Mrs. Vivian Raley Boyd of Signal seeks $3,815 from the stripper, claiming charges of dynamite cracked her home during 1948-49.

The defense claims the blasts were not severe enough to cause the damage claimed.

Howard Tingle of Columbiana, manager of operations at the Signal lease, testified yesterday a 2,900-pound charge was the largest exploded. White's tests were measured on blasts of 3,300 and 3,000 pounds, Tingle recalled.

Other defense witnesses yesterday were J. Homer Browne of Lisbon and George Bloomgren of East Liverpool, both of whom prepared map exhibits; Peter Casper, Middleton real estate agent; Harry O. Deemer of East Liverpool, an engineer for the Nellis Construction Co., and Clerk of Courts John W. Coleman.

Union Terms Ohio Bell Wage Offer Inadequate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Union officials today termed a wage raise offer by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. "unsatisfactory."

Ohio Bell has been negotiating a new contract with the CIO-Communications Workers for 16,000 workers in the state. Talks were recessed yesterday.

The company said it had offered pay raises of from $3 to $6 weekly, and claimed that would boost the annual payroll $4,500,000.

A union spokesman said the proposal means 12,000 employes would get $3 a week and the remaining 4,000 would receive between $3 and $6.

By mutual agreement, the union and company have extended the contract, which would have expired last Tuesday, to March 7. Further talks will be held, it was announced.

Civil Defense Apathy Rapped By Air Raid Center Official

"THERE IS NO excuse for apathy on the part of the American people when it comes to civil defense." These were the words of Lt. Harold Paddock, who is in charge of the air raid filter center at Canton, at the meeting of members of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening in the home.

Lt. Paddock, who was accompanied here by Cpl. George Sample, described the operation of the filter center and its function with observation posts throughout the area in reporting aircraft activities. The other filter center in Ohio is in Columbus.

Ten County Posts:

Salem has one of the ten observation posts in the county. There are 400 in the state and 20,000 in the United States. The lieutenant said that chances of survival within a two and a half mile radius of an atom bomb attack are 95 per cent, decreasing to only 10 percent at a half a mile.

The speaker stressed the need of a volunteer ground observation corps and he explained how the whole state is alerted periodically every four or five months, with strip or sectional alerts in that many weeks. Though we have an "it can't happen here" attitude the officer declared that of 100 enemy planes coming over statistics show that 75 could get through. Ground observation supplements radar protection.

That it's everybody's business to get into civil defense also was shown in the "Modern Minute Men" movie run by Louis Weirick. The need for neighborliness (to help others) and the need to be prepared can not be over emphasized for one of the strongest weapons of the enemy is to panic the people, was the conclusion drawn from the session.

Booklets Presented

Mrs. F. S. Barckhoff Jr., civil defense chairman of the auxiliary, prior to introducing the guests, presented all attending with government booklets describing "Survival Under Atomic Attacks."

Mrs. L. W. Sanders presided at the meeting. Mrs. William Sheen was installed as auxiliary secretary, succeeding Miss Margaret Grubbs who resigned because she will reside in Youngstown. Mrs. R. W. Broomall was installing officer.

Plans were discussed for the birthday dinner of the Salem post March 17. Mrs. Chester E. Kridler is chairman. The Salem unit will be host to the American Legion Auxiliary County Council at 8 p. m. Monday, March 24, Mrs. Howard McDonald and her committee will be in charge.

Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Sheen were chosen delegates to the mid-winter conference of the Auxiliary March 7 in Columbus. The next meeting is March 11.

Methodist Group 1 Enjoys Luncheon

A dessert luncheon was enjoyed by 18 members and nine guests of Group 1 of the Methodist Women's' Society of Christian Service Wednesday at the home of Mrs. F. W. Koenreich, E. Pershing. Mrs. W. R. Pearce, Mrs. Dallas Keller and Mrs. E. G. Heston were associate hostesses.

Devotions were in charge of Miss Mable Chapman and the guest speaker was Attorney Bryce Kendall, who spoke on "The Melting Pot That Doesn't' Melt." It was a resume of conditions in India as he saw them during his three years as a member of Port Batallion at Calcutta, India.

Mr. Kendall feels that the problems of India today are the problems of the world in miniature. The needs of India are great but the greatest is education. Land reforms and 1,000 good agricultural agents are needed. The natural resources of India are abundant for making everything the people need and it will be interesting to watch the future developments in India, the speaker brought out.

A letter from Miss Nellie Lewis, missionary nurse in India, listing needs for her work there was read by Mrs. W. P. Blair. It was decided to have a shower of some of these things at the next meeting March 26 at the home of Mr. G. T. Harding on Homewood.

The patriotic theme was used when lunch was served by hostesses including Miss Mae Montgomery, Miss Sarah Walker, Miss Mildred Tate and Mrs. Ward. The next meeting is March 25.

"HEAD" LINES FROM PARIS for spring emphasize the forward movement, the impression of width, cloches and sailors with diminutive or wavy brims, color assuming more importance than black and navy. Sepia, the yellows, gold, coral pinks and reds, cerulean and "Caprix" blues, mauve and gray are in the lead. Summer afternoon hat (upper left) by Maud et Nano is in pale pink crisscross straw with underbrim faced in fine white pique. Pale pink surah (upper right) with black shadow stripe is a breton sailor from this same house. Tiny upturned brim is banded in black grosgrain ribbon. A 1952 interpretation of the mushroom brim from this house (lower left) is in pale pink crisscross straw with black grosgrain trim. A veil used for this type hat makes fashion news. The Maud et Nano version of the sailor hat (lower right) is young in feeling. Crown is in white pique with tiny brim in coarse navy straw. Trim is navy grosgrain ribbon.—By Rosette Hargrove.

At the meeting of the Nurses Alumnae Association of Salem City Hospital last week, Mrs. George Huston, Girl Scout executive, discussed scouting activities and sought to recruit leaders from among the nurses.

She explained the rapid growth of the troops in Salem and the need of proper leaders. Miss Lola Jean Cady presided at the meeting when plans were made for a St. Patrick's Day party Thursday, March 20 in the nurses home.

All graduate nurses in the city are invited to attend and Odessa Bohner is planning the affair. Mrs. Victor Zerbs is association secretary and program chairman.

Mrs. Goldie K. Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Horace K. Schwartz of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwartz of Nyack, N. Y., have returned from a vacation spent at Nassau, the Bahamas.

Troupe Will Tryout At Catching Position

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—In his search for good catching reserve strength, Indians Manager Al Lopez is giving a Negro named Quincy Troupe a tryout.

Troupe was a manager himself once, of the Cleveland Buckeyes, and rookie pitcher Sam Jones calls him one of the best catchers from the Negro Leagues, possibly as good as Brooklyn's Roy Campanella.

He smilingly gives his age as 29. He is signed to a contract with Indianapolis, a Cleveland farm, but he'll work out here at least until March 15—maybe longer, says Lopez.

Right now, Birdie Tebbetts looks like the only sure second stringer for Jim Hegan. Rookies Dick Kinaman and Joe Montalvo still are regarded as due for more Minor League seasoning.

EVEN MORE puzzling today is: Where are all the second basemen? Snuffy Stirnweiss is holding out, and Bob Avila is trying to get out of Mexico.

Avila telegraphed Lopez: "Llegare domingo dos tengo dificultades pasaporte avisa spud saludos."

This was perfectly clear to Lopez. It meant: "Will arrive Sunday, the second. Am having passport difficulties. Advise Spud. Regards."

As for Snuffy, Lopez says Stirnweiss is bothered by more than the amount of money the Indians offered him. He doesn't like being a substitute and thinks he could be a regular with another club, said Al.

The Red Sox and Senators are known to be interested in Stirnweiss. Greenberg says: "Maybe we can swing a deal."

TRAINING CAMP notes: Lou Brissie has had his ailing leg painted with sulfa. Dick Wakefield is nursing an extremely painful sprained ankle, expects to be sidelined for a week . . . At track star Harrison Dillard's suggestion, Larry Doby is doing leg-stretching exercises . . . Pitcher Ray Narleski, signed to Indianapolis, is working out here. He had a good year with Dallas.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX (AP) — One of the never ending wonders of the game of baseball is the fact that you are always learning something about the complicated pastime that you didn't know before. A person who hasn't actually played big league ball may despair of ever knowing all the inside workings of the game.

Take the business of "checking." We are indebted to Frank Shellenback, one of the New York Giants' three coaches, for a tidy essay on this extremely important topic. Ever wonder how those managerial assistants you see wandering around out there earn their pay?

"When we're not doing anything else, it's a good bet that we're checking on somebody—either one of our own players or a fellow on the other side," Shellenback said. "It's something you've got to keep doing constantly if you want to finish in the first division.

"We start checking our pitchers especially right now in spring training. Even during the off-season, without knowing it, they might have picked up some little habit that is a complete tip-off on what they're going to throw. All the other side needs to know is whether it's going to be a fast ball or a curve.

"WE SIT THERE and study every little move our pitcher makes, check every mannerism from the catcher until he delivers from th catcher until he delivers it. All of a sudden, something will click. One of us will see he's doing something he didn't do before.

"Even if it's during a game, we'll stop everything right there and let him know he's tipping his pitches. A smart pitcher depends upon us to check him regularly. If he isn't that smart, he doesn't last long in the big leagues.

"Take me, I was a spitball pitcher. Like all other spitters, I always brought the ball up to my lips whether I was going to throw a spitter or not. One day the other team was teeing off on me, and one of our coaches finally saw what was happening.

"If it was going to be a spitter, he noticed that I would run my tongue over my upper lip after I brought the ball down. If it wasn't a spitter, I wouldn't. That was all, but some smart guy on their bench had caught it. That's the sort of thing we're checking on constantly.

"FIGURE IT THIS way. These league races are so close these days that a single hit during the season with men on base might very well decide the pennant. If just once we are able to tell our batter what's coming it might mean the difference between first and second money. At the same time, of course, we've got to check our own men to see that they're not tipping the other team.

"It's not just the pitchers we check. We've got to watch the catcher and the shortstop and second-baseman, especially. There was one catcher—I won't name him— who had a long and successful big league career, and yet we and avery other team in the league knew whether he had called for a fast ball or a curve every time by the way he set himself. I don't suppose he knows it to this day.

"There's one very fine pitcher right now who hates me because he knows I can call his pitch every time. He knows I'm doing it, but he can't figure out how I know, and so he hates me and I know it.

"Our infielders, we check them to see if they're swaying. They can see the catcher's sign, of course, and so they know what the pitch will be. When we see a batter on the other team lean into a curve as though he owned it, we know something's wrong. Somebody's tipping him.

"So we check, and sure enough, we'll see that one of our infielders is swaying just a little bit in the direction the ball figures to be hit. That is, if it's a curve breaking in on a lefthanded batter, it figures to be hit to right field, so our second-baseman is anticipating it. That's all a smart batter needs."

Joe Wilman Gives Bowling Tips

By JOE WILMAN

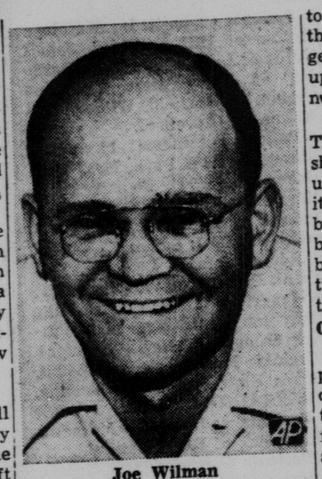

A common mistake among all types of bowlers is the tendency to substitute force and speed for timing and coordination in delivering the ball. These bowlers mistakenly believe they can score better by increasing the speed of their ball than by accurate, well-timed delivery.

In seeking proper timing, the bowler should experiment with his delivery. . Naturally, a person using a 3-step delivery and a person using a 5-step delivery will not have the same type backswing delivery and follow through.

The Push-Away

In the 5-step delivery the ball should be pushed directly away from the front of the body as the first step is taken with the left foot. This is an almost imperceptible motion, as this first step is a very short one.

As the right foot comes forward for the second step the ball begins its descent and starts into the backswing. As you take the third step, the ball passes the body on the backswing at a point about even with the knee. As the fourth step is taken the ball reaches the peak of the backswing. At this point the ball should be no higher than the bowler's shoulder. Any tendency to bring the ball back higher than the shoulder in the backswing generally has a disastrous effect upon the accuracy and effectiveness of the delivery.

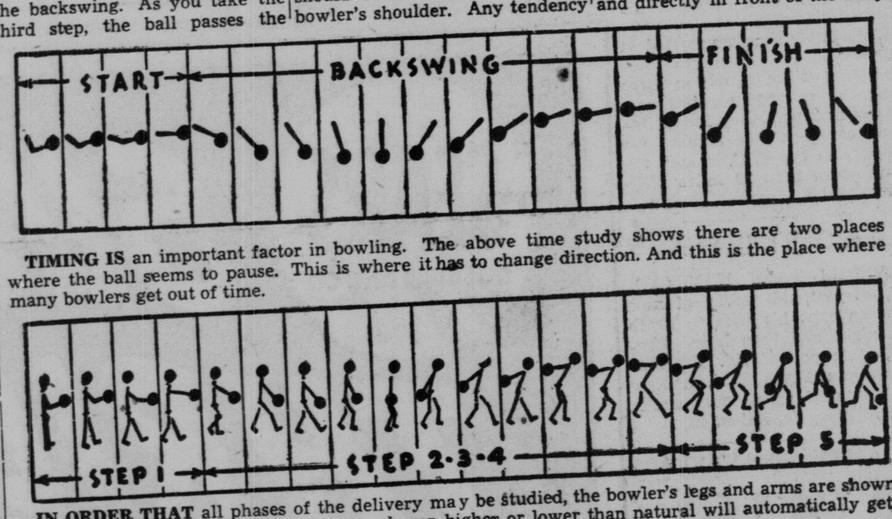

Joe Wilman

The fifth step is all-important. The left foot and the right hand should move forward almost in unison. As the left foot begins its slide in this final step the ball has been brought forward by the right arm, passing the body and then is sent out over the foul line with a lifting motion.

Over Foul Line

Be careful here to avoid dropping the ball or setting the ball down on the approach. Be sure the ball is sent out and over the foul line before it touches the alley.

As in other sports, the follow-through is very important. The right arm should continue upward as the ball is released, and the bowler should retain his balance. The right hand should finish its follow-through about face high and directly in front of the body.

TIMING IS an important factor in bowling. The above time study shows there are two places where the ball seems to pause. This is where it has to change direction. And this is the place where many bowlers get out of time.

IN ORDER THAT all phases of the delivery may be studied, the bowler's legs and arms are shown above. Making your back swing faster or slower, higher or lower than natural will automatically get the ball out of time with legs and body as you go into the last step.

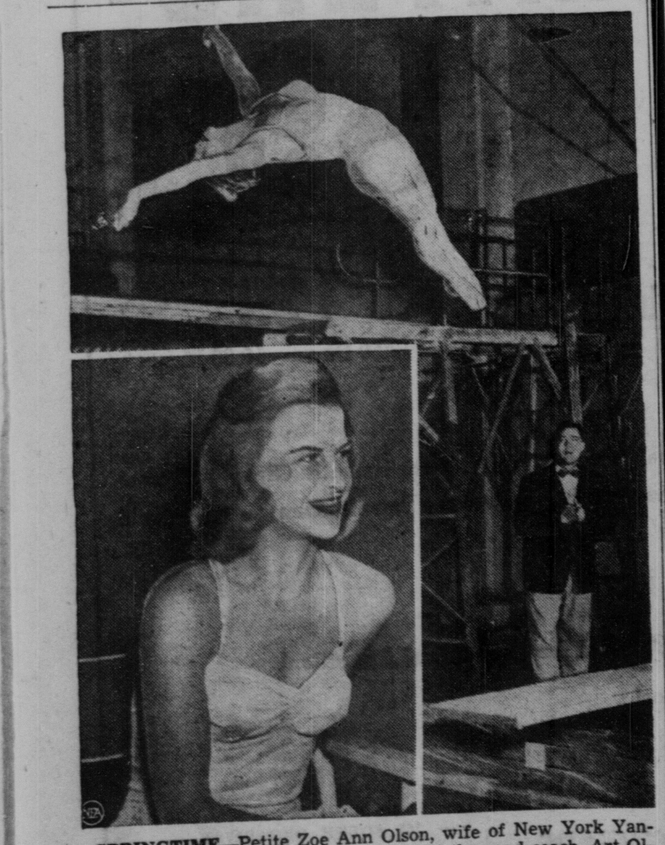

Penn State, Syracuse Defeat Opponents

NEW YORK, (AP)—Penn State and Syracuse, two independents hopeful of landing an "at large" invitation to the NCAA basketball tourney, bowled over a couple of major conference leaders last night to brighten their chances.

Pen State, ending a 3-game losing streak that followed a 15-game winning streak, walloped West Virginia, Southern Conference leader, 84-65. Syracuse humbled Cornell, leader in the Eastern "Ivy" League, 57-50.

Underdog Colorado A & M surprised Denver, 79-62, in a Skyline Conference tilt while Maryland stayed in the running for a Southern Conference tourney berth by whipping Richmond, 54-50.

Twenty years ago — Billie Burke won the $2,500 Belleair Open golf tournament with a score of 288.

SPRINGTIME—Petite Zoe Ann Olson, wife of New York Yankee Outfielder Jackie Jensen, shows her father and coach, Art Olson, the kind of form she intends using to make the U. S. Olympic diving team. Shown resting, inset, the pretty little lady is rated one of America's best bets for an Olympic diving championship.

Johnson Happy Over Trade Between Yanks And Cardinals

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Imagine a ball player calling himself a lucky guy because he was cast off by the mighty New York Yankees, champions of the baseball world.

Sounds fantastic, doesn't it? Well, listen to the way Billy Johnson explains it.

"I never thought there was another organization that could touch the Yankees," said Johnson when asked how it felt to be playing with a team other than New York.

"I'm shipped to St. Louis and I discover that the Cardinals' organization is every bit as good as the Yankees. They run their farm system the same way, they are just as liberal, and in fact they treat their players even better. There is a closer association between the front office and the player on the Cards.

"For instance, with the Yankees I was lucky if George Weiss (general manager) ever said 'hello' to me. On this club, Mr. Saigh (Fred Saigh, Cardinal president) comes over to me and asks 'How do you feel, Bill, how is the family?' It makes you feed good to have your boss treat you like an equal.

"YOU KNOW, I expected to have a little difficulty with my contract this year. Mr. Saigh, I've heard rumored, is a tough man to deal with. But I was pleasantly surprised. I had no trouble at all. As a matter of fact, I am very happy with my contract. It is one of the best I ever had.

"When the Yanks sold me to St. Louis it turned out to be the biggest break I ever got. I'll never forget how dumbstruck I was when I first heard the news.

"I had nothing against the Cards, mind you. I'd been nine years with the Yankees. I had played on four world championship teams. I had all my friends there. I was making good money. I was a Yankee and I was proud of it. Naturally I was despondent."

AFTER 1949, when Casey Stengel took over as manager of the Yankees, Billy shared third base duties with Bobby Brown, but now Johnson says:

"The day I reported to St. Louis I was told I was the regular third baseman. Don't think that doesn't mean a lot t oa player."

Johnson explained about Stengel:

"Stengel is a firm believer in the switch system—it is his contention that a right-handed batter hits best agaist a left-handed pitcher and a left-handed batter hits best against a right-handed pitcher.

"That system may be good for some fellows but not for guys like myself. I've got to play each day in order to do my best. I may look bad for two days in succession but then I come back with four or five good days. Casey gave me no such chance. I never complained. After all, he was getting paid to manage. I just took orders."

JOHNSON JOINED the Cards in mid-May. Although his batting average was only .262 for 124 games, he proved one of the best clutch hitters in the league. He batted in 64 runs, smashed 14 homers and led all third sackers in fielding. Although 33 and in his tenth year in the Majors, the Augusta Georgian believes he can play regularly for several more years, now that he has become accustomed to National League pitching.

Liberty Ousts Leetonia Bears From Tourney

The Leetonia Bears completed their 1951-52 basketball season last night as they were knocked from the Class B tournament by Liberty, 71-61.

Liberty had rough going against the Bears though as both squads played good games in the first of three tilts of the evening at Youngstown South Fieldhouse.

Poland, Mahoning County consolation winner, got past Howland, TIA runnerup, 50-42, in the second game of the evening and the Canfield Cardinals ousted Warren St. Mary's in the final contest, 49-42.

Leetonia and Liberty were deadlocked at the end of the first quarter as each team managed 14 markers in the period but the Liberty quintet held a slight three-point lead as the teams halted play at halftime, 34-31.

Liberty came out in the third period frame to outscore the Bears, 20-14, and hold a 54-45 advantage at the end of the period.

The Liberty five again outscored the Leetonia crew, 17-16, in the final period and won the game by ten markers, 71-61.

Mike Gallo led the Bears with 17 markers while Joe Billett and Glen Smith managed 13 points apiece.

Market Extends Yesterday's Rally

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market showed a preponderance of small gains today in a mild extension of the rallying movement which developed yesterday.

However, most traders were reluctant to take part in the proceedings and the list failed to get very far on the upside. There appeared to be a well-defined belief in Wall Street that some selling might develop to obtain funds for the March 15 income tax deadline, and this was a factor influencing a temporary hands-off attitude.

American Cyanamid was a feature with a run-up of 3½ points on the news that directors were considering a stock split. Elsewhere in the industrials, fractional advances were chalked up by U. S. Steel, Union Carbide, International Nickel, Chrysler and Bethlehem Steel.

Atlantic Coast Line highlighted the rails with a gain of 1¼ points. Southern Pacific, New York Central and Pennsylvania were up small fractions.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average was up 75 cents; the rails gained 27 cents; and the utilities were down three cents.

Volume in the first hour eased slightly to 250,000 shares.

Curb stocks where irregularly higher. Big board bonds ruled firm. Cotton sold off nearly $1 a bale in a mixed commodity list.

by Judges Pinbrough Stone, E. Barrett Prettyman and Charles Fahy.

Can Still Escape Chair

Collazo still has two chances to escape the electric chair. The Supreme Court could reverse the conviction or Mr. Truman could commute the sentence.

The Puerto Rican was charged not only with murder but also with felonious assault on the wounded guards and attempted housebreaking "with attempt to murder the President of the United States."

Mr. Truman himself was not injured. He was upstairs taking a nap when the two tried to storm Blair House.

Collazo was a member of a nationalist group which revolted against the U. S. authorities governing Puerto Rico during the very week of the attempted assassination.

Governor Luiz Munoz Marin of the U. S. island possession described the revolutionaries as members of "a conspiracy against democracy helped by the Communists."

Collazo told Secret Service agents that he and Torresola "came here for the express purpose of shooting the President."

Salem Soap Box Derby June 22 One Of 150 In United States

Salem will be one of over 150 communities in the United States holding soap box derbies this summer to select a contestant for the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron Aug. 10.

Nearly 50,000 boys from 11 to 15 are expected to take part in the local races. The 150 local winners will compete in Akron for prizes headed by a four-year, $5,000 college scholarship.

A new sedan goes to the runner-up. Twenty trophies and merchandise awards go to top place winners. Special awards are made for the best-designed racer, the best-upholstered, best constructed, best brakes and the car which ran the fastest single heat.

In addtion to these, local awards are made in each community. In Salem the Chamber of Commerce has been appointed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsor of the derby with Chevrolet Motor Co., to collect local prizes.

Clubs Assist in Event

The Rotary club was given the task of signing up merchants who will want to sponsor an entry in the derby, scheduled for June 22 or June 29 in case of rain.

Indications are that a large group of merchants will serve as sponsors, helping boys meet the cost of the racers.

Salem V.F.W., American Legion and Amvets will plan the parade which will precede the race.

Boys 11 to 15 living in towns within a radius of 50 miles of Salem are eligible to compete. Official rules may be secured at the Parker Chevrolet Co., Salem, and will be available in other cities shortly. Offical derby wheels will arrive soon in the district, to be sold at cost at about $12.25 per set. Total cost of the racer cannot exceed $10 above cost of the wheels, and each boy must build his own car. All boys will be insured during the race.

The 150 local winners stay in "Derbytown," a Y.M.C.A. camp outside Akron for the four-day race weekend. The park offers swimming, ball and coaching in many types of boys' sports.

About 60,000 spectators from throughout the nation see the All-American derby in Akron. Racers attain speeds of slightly over 26 miles per hour on the smooth, green concrete race track.

The Salem race, the first ever offered to local boys, is being produced by the Jaycees, Chevrolet Motor Co. and the civic clubs, together with organizations in district cities from which boys have been invited.

Hospital Staff Told Of Burns Treatment

First, second and third degree burns were defined and the latest teachings on burn treatment were discussed at the meeting of the medical staff of Salem City Hospital Tuesday evening. Dr. F. R. Crowgey presided.

Introduced were Dr. T. S. Brownell, Akron surgeon, and Dr. Morris Malmud, resident physician at People's Hospital in Akron.

Dr. Malmud presented a paper on the latest teachings and development of treatment for mild or severe burns and Dr. Brownell summarized the statement and said that the use of pressure dressings has been replaced by the open air treatment and the use of sterile sheets.

In the event of disaster the open air treatment was cited as a better way to handle many cases at once. Other more effective treatment also is found for shock. Blood donations are given, proper nutrition is maintained and a proper chemical balance in the body is sustained. Early grafting, he said, sometimes the same day, helps to prevent scar tissue.

A first degree burn is defined as one which penetrates the outer skin; second, penetrates dermis or secondary layer skin and third penetrates skin layers into the muscle tissue. Next meeting is March 25.

Eggs, Shrimp, Rice Provide Lenten Treat

IF THE THOUGHT of planning Lenten meals makes you sing the blues, you'll find this deliciously different dish will strike a happy chort with everyone. Eggs stuffed with a shrimp mixture and bedded on rice, it's a meal that will have the family singing your praises for a long time to come.

DEVILED EGGS WITH SHRIMP ON RICE

6 hard-cooked eggs
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 teaspoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ tablespoon dry mustard
Dash of pepper
1 cup cooked fresh or canned shrimp, drained and cut in pieces
1 1/3 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1½ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups top milk
1½ teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon curry powder

Cut eggs in half. Remove yolks and force through a sieve; add mayonnaise, vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, mustard and pepper, mix well. Add shrimps and fill egg whites with mixture. Set aside.

Combine rice, water and salt in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. Do not stir. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir until blended. Then add liquid gradually, stirring constantly. Add onion and curry powder. Cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened. Place deviled eggs on bed of rice and top with curry sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Found! Lenten Seafood Dishes

LENT is here. So let's begin looking for delicious fish and seafood dishes.

Here's one that is unusually good, consisting of seafood, marinated in olive oil, herbs and spices. And then it is broiled on long skewers! Don't be afraid to try it, it's really very easy.

Fish Kabobs

1 pound shrimp
1 pound scallops
1 pound mushrooms
1 green pepper
2 cloves garlic
3 lemons
4 t salt
2 t black pepper
4 t olive oil
2 t grated onion
1 t ground chile peppers
1 t powdered ginger
1 t powdered mustard
1 t curry powder
¼ t thyme
¼ t oregano

Marinate for four hours cooked, cleaned shrimp and raw scallops in sauce composed of all above ingredients with exception of mushrooms and green pepper. Drain off sauce and spit the scallops, shrimp, mushrooms and green pepper on skewers, alternating the items.

For example, use one shrimp, one mushroom cap, one green pepper segment, one scallop, one mushroom, one green peper, etc., until skewer is filled.

Brush with olive oil and place under broiler for 10 minutes, turning frequently. This may be served as an appetizer, or, if desired, as a main course with rice.

Florentine Bread

1 loaf sliced white bread
¼ t basil
6 T dried parsley
1 T marjoram
½ T oregano
2/3 cup butter
1/3 cup olive oil

Combine butter and olive oil. Stir in all the herbs. Spread some of this mixture on each slice of bread. Then press all slices together and tie loaf together with clean string.

Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes until outside is lightly browned and crusty. Untie and serve as loaf, wrapped in napkin.

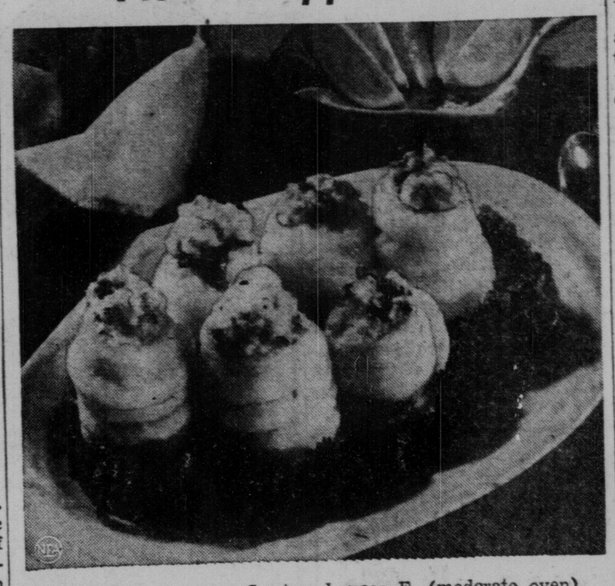

PORK CURRY

Here's a dish to interest lagging appetites — curried pork. Cook 1 cup of sliced onion in drippings for about 5 minutes, then add 4 cups of diced tart apples, cover and cook until tender. Make a thin gravy with 1 tablespoon each of flour and drippings and either 1 cup of milk or water. When thickened, add 2 cups of cooked pork, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and salt to season. Add meat in gravy to apple-onion mixture and heat thoroughly. Serve on fluffy white rice.

FRANKFURTER SPAGHETTI

Frankfurters and spaghetti join for a cold winter night special. Heat franks thoroughly, then serve on spaghetti cooked with tomato juice and seasoned with minced onions.

Fish To Appreciate

NOW begins the open Lenten season for wonderful new fish dishes. Every year, more and more families are learning to appreciate fish when cooked in interesting ways. You'll really enjoy these two recipes that appeal to the eye, the taste and the food budget.

Fish Fillets With Mushrooms

Buy six narrow fish fillets or trim wide fish fillets. (If you use frozen fillets, you will need two 1-pound packages.) Grease a six-well muffin pan. Set oven at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven).

Sprinkle fillets with lemon juice and coil each fillet around inside of muffin well. Melt 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine. Add 1 tablespoon chopped onion and saute until onion is golden.

Add ½ cup chopped canned mushrooms, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, ½ cup cream, 2 beaten eggs and 1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

Season with salt and pepper to taste. Stir until well mixed. Cook over low heat until mixture is thickened. Spoon into center of fish turbans.

Bake at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven) 15 to 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately on a hot platter. 6 servings.

Fish Dinner Casserole

1 pound frozen fish fillets
2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup scalded milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
dash nutmeg
1 cup cooked shrimp
3 tablespoons parsley.

Let fillets thaw at room temperature. Place in greased baking dish. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Stir in flour. Gradually add milk and beat with a rotary beater. Add salt and pepper.

Cook until sauce is smooth and boiling, about ten minutes, beating as it boils. Stir in nutmeg. Pour sauce over fish in baking dish.

Bake at 425 degrees F. (hot oven) 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove from oven.

Sprinkle with shrimp. Return to oven and bake another 3 minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately. 4 servings.

HAM CORNBREAD

Leftover ham cut into cubes finds tasty use with cornbread. Heat the ham cubes in a cream sauce, then serve over split hot cornbread squares.

Breakfast Eater? You Should Be

YOUR family should get from a quarter to a third of its daily food needs at breakfast. That's the amount nutritionists and doctors recommend.

If they do, you will actually be able to cut the amount of money you have to spend for all the meals for the entire day.

Let's see how it works out. A good breakfast (from point of both enjoyment and nutrition), can be of fruit, cereal, milk, bread, butter. That meal will cost only 18-1/3 cents a person.

Here's the twist—that 18-cent breakfast supplies 1/3 of the day's food needs. But it costs only 1/6 of the day's total food budget for one person ($1.10).

By giving your family an adequate breakfast on this thrifty cereal pattern, you see how you really do cut food costs for the entire day without cutting nutritional standards.

A third of the day's average individual budget ($1.10) would otherwise be about 37 cents.

Another popular breakfast is fruit, bacon, egg, toast, butter, jelly and milk. However, that costs today about 24 cents. Yet it is still under a third of the average individual total food costs for one day.

Both of these breakfasts are equally good sources of the B vitamins, minerals and protein. That opinion is based on reliable scientific research on the nutritional efficiency of different types of breakfasts.

This means that a thrifty breakfast will do as good a job as one calling for more expensive foods.

Orange juice, pork sausage, toast, butter and milk would run about 22 cents. Orange juice, wheat cakes, butter, syrup and milk about 24 cents, and orange juice, ham, toast, butter and milk about 30½ cents.

All this proves that skimping on breakfast does not save pennies. Because a good nutritional breakfast costs less than any other meal and at the same time can supply from ¼ to 1/3 of the day's total food needs, breakfast becomes an important factor in solving today's budget problems.

SANDWICH DESIGNS

Sandwiches are all the more fun for your youngsters to eat when you use your cookie cutters to make them in various shapes and sizes — stars, crescents, rounds, etc. Spread with such tasty mixtures as liver sausage and minced sweet pickle moistened with mayonnaise, peanut butter and chopped crisp bacon, chopped prunes and crisp bacon bits.

FRANKFURTER APPLE RINGS

1 No. 2½ can (or 3½ cups bulk) sauerkraut
1 medium-size onion (sliced thin)
½ cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 table-spoon brown sugar
2 medium-size apples
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
2 teaspoons grated onion
3 tablespoons brown sugar
6 frankfurters.

In a saucepan, mix sauerkraut and onion slices; cover and simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat and add sour cream, nutmeg, and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Wash, core, and slice apples (without peeling) into 6 ¼-inch slices.

Brush apple rings with butter; sprinkle with grated onion and 3 tablespoons brown sugar. Place frankfurters and apple rings on broiler rack and broil (about 3 inches from heat) 5 to 6 minutes. Reheat sauerkraut and place in center of large platter; surround with frankfurters and apple rings. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHOPS, CELERY STUFFED

Celery stuffing is ideal for pork chops. Simply add chopped celery to bread stuffing and season with minced onion and parsley. To stuff, cut the chops along the bone, fill with celery combination, then brown them thoroughly in lard or drippings. Cover and cook on top of the range or in 350 F. oven for 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Vegetable Casserole Can Be Tasty Lent Dish

THE approach of Lent needn't mean trouble ahead for homemakers who find planning two meatless meals a week quite a challenge. Not if she has a variety of colorful and appetizing dishes from which to choose.

This one, with its simplicity and inexpensiveness, adds a bright note to her meal-planning future.

CASSEROLE ROYALE

1-1/3 cups precooked rice
1-½ cups water
½ t salt
3 T slivered blanched almonds
3 T butter
2 cups cooked broccoli
2 tomatoes, sliced
1 egg white
¾ cup mayonnaise

Combine rice, water and salt in a saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing gently once or twice with a fork. Do not stir. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes.

Saute almonds in butter until golden brown. Add to rice; blend. Add broccoli; mix well. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Arrange sliced tomatoes over top. Season tomatoes with salt and pepper and brush with butter. Place casserole under broiler 8 to 10 minutes, or until tomatoes are lightly browned.

Meanwhile, beat egg white until it will stand in soft peaks. Add mayonnaise and blend well. Spread over tomatoes and return casserole to broiler for 2 minutes, or until topping is golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

If desired, cooked cut green beans or asparagus or sauteed mushrooms may be used in place of the broccoli.

Tips To Housewives

Party line. Popular appetizers are bright red apple wedges topped with a tangy peanut butter spread served dip-style. Combine 1 cup chunky peanut butter and ¼ cup mayonnaise. Add 2 tablespoons chili sauce and ½ cup chopped mustard pickle. Blend thoroughly. Cut spicy red Winesap apples into wedges. If desired, sprinkle apple meat with lemon or pineapple juice to prevent discoloration and arrange the apple wedges, skin side up, in a ring around the tray with the dip mixture in the center.

Tempting topper for custards is a heaping tablespoon of fresh, homemade applesauce. The bright red Winesap apples are a good choice for applesauce because this variety holds its provocative, spicy flavor. If desired, add a dash of lemon juice or grated lemon rind.

Eats are treats when you serve plump Rome Beauty apples baked and flavored with mint candy. Follow your usual baking method then slip a piece of peppermint candy into the core cavities just before placing in the oven.

Here's a casserole that combines cooked pork or ham, tart apples and sweet potatoes. To prepare, cube cooked meat, then combine with sliced tart apples Moisten with gravy and place in a casserole. Top the casserole with slices of cooked sweet potato and bake for 30 to 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

(Stale bread, diced and fried.)

Creole Lima Beans

½ pound dried lima beans
1 medium onion, stuck with whole cloves
1 can tomato sauce
1 bay leaf
1 heaping tablespoon flour
1 cup chopped bacon
Chili powder, to taste

Cook died beans in salted water with bay leaf and onion stuck with cloves. When tender, drain, Fry bacon. Add tomato sauce, salt, perrer, chili powder. Re..ove cloves from onion and add onion and drained beans to sauce. Simmer until thoroughly hot. Thicken with flour if necessary.

SAUSAGE MEAL

Here's a one-dish sausage meal. Shape one pound of bulk pork sausage into six rolls and place them in a cold frying-pan Add 2 or 3 tablespoons of water, cover and cook until the water evaporates, about 10 binutes. Alternate layers of cooked macaroni seasoned with grated onion and sauerkraut in a casserole. Arrange the sausage rolls wheel spoke fashion, over the top Add 2 tablespoon of of sausage drippings and bake in a moderate oven (350 F) for 1 hour.

HAM CASSEROLE

APPLE SHORTS

Gayer than springtime is the flavor you'll add to your apple-coleslaw salad with salted peanuts and raisins. You'll need 3 cups shredded cabbage and 2 spicy red Winesap apples, diced but not peeled. Add 1/3 cup salted peanuts and ½ cup raisins. Toss together with mayonnaise and sprinkle lightly with lemon juice.

PRALINE COOKIES

2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/3 cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg (beaten)
¼ cup flour
1 cup chopped nut meats
½ teaspoon maple flavoring

Put sweetened condensed milk and sugar in top of double boiler. Cover over rapidly boiling water until very thick, about 4 to 8 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in butter or margarine, blending well. Cool slightly.

Gradually stir into beaten egg. Blend in flour. Add nut meats and flavoring, mixing well. Drop tablespoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet, about 2 inches apart, and spread into 2-inch circles. Bake in moderate (350°F.) oven until edges are a golden brown, about 15 minutes. Remove quickly from baking sheet. Makes 24 2½-inch cookies.

CHIPPED BEEFBURGERS

Get out chipped beef and hamburger buns for this hot sandwich. Heat a can of mushroom soup with minced clove garlic, then add shredded chipped beef and grated cheddar cheese. Cook slowly until the cheese is melted and serve on buns, toasted and buttered.

If your dress has a line of buttons down its front, you'll look slimmer.

New TB Drug Best Thing Yet; But More Research Needed

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — How good is the new "wonder drug" for tuberculosis?

Some doctors call it "the best thing yet" against TB, still the killer of 45,000 Americans each year. Others say "at least as good as streptomycin." Another, "this is no magic bullet."

They can't say more because this TB pill is too new.

From these doctors, here are the facts and the unknowns:

Fact 1: You can't get the drug yet. The Food and Drug Administration must first approve it for general use, on safety and effect. That may come by May or June. Till then, only a few doctors can get it for watchful tests on humans.

Fact 2: When and if approved, it will be cheap and abundant. The drug, isonicotinic acid, is being made by two drug houses, which found it separately. They gave it different names, Rimifon and Nydrazid.

Fact 3: It kills TB germs in test tubes and animals; it hits just TB germs.

Fact 4: More than 200 sick people have had it so far. Many quickly felt better. High fevers vanished, they gained 10 to 30 pounds, coughs decreased or even disappeared, vitality returned.

In some, no germs could be found recently in their sputum, by looking with a microscope. X-rays indicated that lung holes or cavities had gotten smaller in a few patients.

All were advanced cases. Now, patients with milder cases are getting the drug, and it may do them even more good.

Fact 5: No matter how good it is, it won't wipe out TB overnight, won't abolish the need for TB hospitals, or the need for finding thousands of people who don't know they have TB. Bed rest, especially away from home to prevent spreading this infection, will still be important, as will good diet, other drugs, and surgery. It takes time to heal and repair lungs ravaged by the TB bug.

Fact 6: A warning, from Dr. J. Maxwell Chamberlain of Bellevue Hospital. Don't, he advised, postpone any scheduled operation for TB in hopes the new drug will make it unnecessary.

There's not yet the kind of proof of cure that the doctors want. This leads to the unknowns:

Unknown 1: Did the drug kill off most, or even all, the germs in the patients who show the best signs of it?

Unknown 2: What will happen when people stop taking the drug daily? Will the disease flare up again?

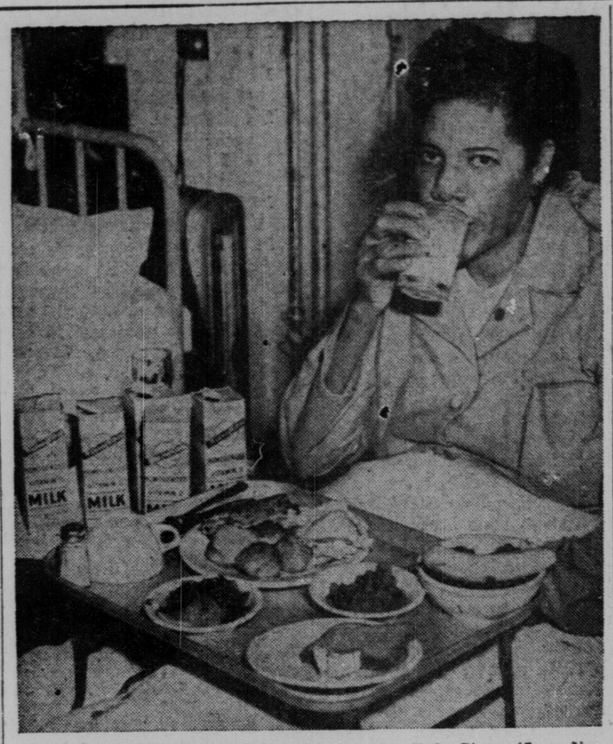

Unknown 3: Will TB bugs become resistant to the new drug, as they do with streptomycin?

Unknown 4: Will there be any bad effects? No serious ones have shown yet.

Unknown 5: What did the drug really do in human bodies?

Unknown 6: A hopeful unknown. For this is a brand new kind of TB fighter. Maybe better ones can be fashioned, by making relatives of this parent drug. The first sulpha drug is no longer used, because its cousins turned out to be so much better and safer.

To sum up: Here's something that looks very hopeful. Time and more study hold the keys to how good.

BOON TO TB VICTIMS—Physicians cite Eula Sims, 45, as living proof of efficacy of the new drugs, "Marsilid" and "Rimifon," in use at New York's Seaview hospital, for treatment of patients suffering from tuberculosis. While not a cure, the drugs are said to reduce fever and increase appetite. Now weighing 182 pounds, Eula Sims, who is seen indulging in a gigantic breakfast, weighed only 98 pounds at time of admittance. New drugs are still being used experimentally, and are not yet available to the public.

Corporal Culp was detailed as escort in compliance with a request telegraphed by the Spratt family to the Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va. Eight Marines, including the two Columbiana men, from Camp Chincoteague, Va., were walking back to their base from nearby Westover, Md., where they had attended a dance, when the accident occurred.

Sergeant Robert Spratt of the Marines at Quantico, Va., is here on a 10-day leave for his brothers' funeral. Corporal Culp will return to camp this evening, following the funeral this afternoon. He and Corporal Spratt were graduated together from Columbiana High School in May, 1949, enlisted in the Marines in July following and had served together ever since, including 14 months in Korea.

Spelling Bee On PTA Program

Spelldown Scheduled Monday Evening

LEETONIA — Spelling champs from the three school buildings will participate in a spelldown as a part of the Patron-Teachers Association program Monday night at the High School.

The event has been arranged by Principal Curtis Allison in connection with the annual selection of three Leetonia students to compete in the exempted village spelldown later at Lisbon. The winner of that contest goes to the Salem News finals at Steubenville April 25.

The eight contestants Monday night will include two from the fifth and sixth grades of Washingtonville building, two from the fifth and sixth grades at the Leetonia South Side Building and two each from the seventh and eighth grades at the North Side building.

Mrs. Aaron Morris and Mrs. Joseph Gallo, 7th grade home room mothers, will have charge of the social hour.

The World Day of Prayer Service, sponsored by the Missionary Societies of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Lutheran Churches, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church with Sue Bixler and Brillhart Missionary Societies in charge.

Mrs. John F. Beilhart Sr., president of the Brillhart Society, is chairman of the program. Mrs. Fred W. Floding and Mrs. Fred G. Spatholt will provide the special music and James Mayernick will preside at the organ.

D. Wallace Rebekah Lodge, No. 279 will hold a benefit "500" party at their lodge hall Saturday evening (March 1).

Mrs. Marcus Holt entertained contract bridge club associates at her home Tuesday.

Actors To Marry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's wedding bells next Tuesday for actor Ronald Reagan and actress Nancy Davis. The couple announced yesterday they will marry at "some small church," as yet unselected, and honeymoon for two weeks in Phoenix, Ariz. It will be Miss Davis first marriage. Reagan is divorced from actress Jane Wyman. They have two children.

DUPES RED DUPES—Lloyd Hamlin, 37-year-old Navy veteran, testified in Los Angeles Federal Court that he has been a member of the Communist Party since 1945, acting at first as an undercover agent for naval intelligence and then as an FBI agent. Hamlin, married, and father of three children, was a government witness against 15 California Communists charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force.

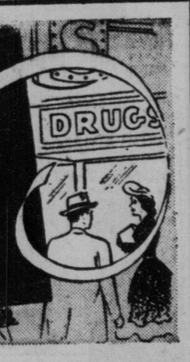

Will Honor General

NEW YORK (AP) — The four freedoms foundation has picked Gen. George C. Marshall to receive its annual "four freedoms award" at a dinner here March 14. The foundation announced yesterday that Marshall had been chosen for his work as "chief architect" of the Marshall Plan.
